

of significance, as recited in independent claim 1, and similarly recited in independent claim 11.

The Office Action, at page 3, acknowledges that EP 1050831 does not disclose or suggest the above-noted features of claims 1 and 11. However, the Office Action alleges that Chow, at Fig. 4, col. 4, lines 6-39, compensates for the deficiencies of EP 1050831. Applicants respectfully disagree.

Chow does not disclose more than what EP 1050831 discloses. That is, Chow, at col. 4, lines 6-39, discloses caching pages of documents requested by a client and forwarding the cached pages to the client for review. If the client shows no interest, the cached pages are deleted. See, col. 4, lines 16-17. Stated differently, only when the user has shown significance in the cached pages will the revision manager store the cached pages in the document data storage. On the contrary, claims 1 and 11 recite that the document representation storage further storing a predetermined number of most recently changed documents irrespective of user's indication of significance. Chow does not disclose or suggest this feature. Therefore, the combination of EP 1050831 and Chow does not render obvious the features of independent claims 1 and 11.

EP 1111517 does not compensate for the above-noted deficiencies of EP 1050831 and Chow.

Therefore, independent claims 1 and 11 define patentable subject matter. Claims 2-10 and 12-17 depend from the respective independent claims, and therefore also define patentable subject matter. Therefore, withdrawal of the rejections under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) is respectfully requested.

In view of the foregoing, it is respectfully submitted that this application is in condition for allowance. Favorable reconsideration and prompt allowance of claims 1-17 are earnestly solicited.

Should the Examiner believe that anything further would be desirable in order to place this application in even better condition for allowance, the Examiner is invited to contact the undersigned at the telephone number set forth below.

Respectfully submitted,
